My Kind of Support

“Whenever I have questions, Firestone has the answers.”

Firestone service gives you access to a century of manufacturing expertise:

- Resources to help you maximize return on your investment
- Added value from dealing with an industry leader

Responsive service and customized solutions from an experienced manufacturer set Firestone apart—and give you real peace-of-mind.

System design and engineering review for your building projects

Training designed to meet your needs

Dedicated customer service

Project development and industry compliance assistance

Warranty backed by Firestone

Support for My Industry

*“Firestone supports MBI.
That means a lot to me.”*

Firestone proudly serves the modular building industry in many ways:

- Major supporter and member of the Modular Building Institute (MBI)
- Contributor to MBI Best Practices manual for modular roofing
- Decades of service and millions of square feet of roofing systems on modular projects
- Invests millions of dollars annually in R&D

Look for our involvement at MBI meetings and the annual convention trade show

Firestone serves your industry

Our commitment to research helps Firestone develop innovative new roofing products.

Firestone proudly supports MBI, and works every day to meet the needs of modular builders like you.

My Brand of Value

“Firestone helps set my projects apart.”

Your customers expect a lot from you, and you can expect a lot from Firestone. We're proud to meet your criteria for quality, service and value—and you can be proud to offer roofing systems from the name your customers know: Firestone.

For all your modular roofing system needs, remember the name your customers know, and the name for value—Firestone.

Firestone Modular Roofing Systems

- Consistent, top-quality products
- Responsive, expert service
- One source for materials and support
- Resources and scale for any size project
- Complete project support
- Major supporter of MBI
- Brand name customers know
- Product performance backed by Firestone

My Production Schedule

“I don’t worry when I buy Firestone.”

Firestone has the resources and scale to meet your needs:

- Designs and manufacturing capacity for any size application
- Systems manufactured in our own facilities across the country
- You keep control of your projects, because we’re in control of our products from start to finish

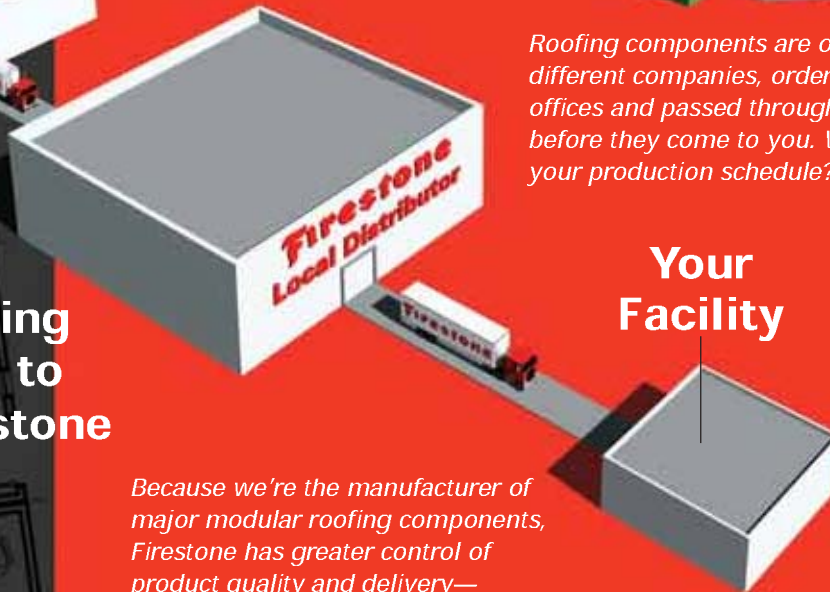

Most roofing products come through a multi-step supply chain

Roofing components are often manufactured by different companies, ordered through sales offices and passed through multiple distributors before they come to you. What will that do to your production schedule?

Firestone roofing systems come to you from Firestone

Because we’re the manufacturer of major modular roofing components, Firestone has greater control of product quality and delivery—which gives you more control of your production schedule.
